What looks like "target" to the domain classifier?

Evidence for target domain label (GradCAM) shows that the feature extractor seems to deceive the domain classifier in regions with car.